

Reporting an Incident

Columbia College urges anyone who becomes aware of an incident of Prohibited Conduct involving a Student, Employee, or Trustee or Third Party to immediately report the incident to the College Title IX Coordinator. Please keep these key points in mind.

- There is no time limit to notify the College of an incident of Prohibited Conduct.
- Survivors of Prohibited Conduct are encouraged to report allegations of Prohibited Conduct immediately in order to maximize the College's ability to obtain evidence and conduct a thorough, impartial, and reliable investigation.
- The College only has jurisdiction over enrolled students and current Trustees, Faculty, and Staff.
- All cases of reported Prohibited Conduct are held in confidence to the extent possible subject to the College's need to properly investigate allegations.
- Anonymous or third party (e.g. not the Complainant or Respondent) reporters of Prohibited Conduct should provide as much information as possible about the incident.
- Reporting Prohibited Conduct does not in any way obligate an individual to pursue legal or institutional disciplinary action.
- Columbia College has the right to pursue disciplinary action at its discretion when there could be a threat to the campus community.
- Columbia College will support and comply with the criminal justice process if the survivor chooses to report and pursue criminal charges against an alleged assailant.
- According to the Clery Act, there may be instances when a timely warning must be issued to the entire campus.
- Columbia College must submit an annual Crime and Fire Safety report with data regarding the number of sexual assault or harassment incidents that have occurred on campus. A survivor's name will not be disclosed in either of these incidents.

Procedures for Survivors

If you have been assaulted:

- First, exit the situation and seek safety. If needed, call the police to assist by dialing the Columbia College Police Department (CCPD) at 803-786-3333 or dialing 911.
- Second, seek prompt medical attention at Palmetto Richland Hospital or the closest hospital if you are outside of the Columbia area. The sooner a sexual assault is reported, the easier it is to collect valuable evidence, regardless of desire to use the evidence to pursue any type of legal or judicial action. Evidence collection is most effective within 72 hours.

To facilitate evidence collection:

- Do not bathe or douche.
- Do not urinate.
- Do not drink liquids.
- Do not smoke, eat, or brush teeth if oral contact has been made.
- Do not change clothes. If clothes have been changed, soiled clothes should be placed in a paper bag and separated to prevent contamination.

If you have been harassed:

- First, exit the situation and seek safety. If needed, call the police to assist by dialing the Columbia College Police Department (CCPD) at 803-786-3333 or by dialing 911.
- Second, if you are able, clearly explain to the person causing the harassment that you are uncomfortable with his or her behavior and request that the conduct cease immediately.

Survivor Support

Survivors of sexual misconduct can choose how to best seek assistance, however; it is essential that survivors receive medical treatment and emotional support as soon as possible if a sexual assault has occurred.
